

TULSA COUNTY LIBRARY RUDISILL

Ethos has been working with Tulsa City County Library system on an analysis of their properties and to help masterplan future potential projects. As part of an initial development phase, our design team has helped to create concepts for four new buildings for the TCCL Library system, and one of the first to be developed is the Freddie Rudisill Regional Library. This library will be relocated from its existing location to a site in Historic Greenwood, just a half mile away from its current site. The new two story building will include community space, circulation space, book storage, meeting spaces, children library, offices and more. Specific to this location, is a new event center that will be located on the 2nd floor, that will be one of the largest meeting spaces in the Tulsa City-County Library system. There will also be a dedicated African American Resource Center which will be featured prominently along Greenwood Avenue. Our team is presently engaged in the design phase for this exciting project.
