

OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY CENTRAL MARKET

Ethos Architects master planned and designed a cutting-edge, 28,600-square-foot dining facility for OSU Dining, enhancing kitchen capacity and offering an expanded variety of food options for students and visitors on the west side of campus. Strategically positioned along a pedestrian corridor, the building serves as a future visual anchor, terminating a campus sightline axis.

The design reimagines the OSU-Stillwater campus's traditional architectural style with a modern twist. Inside, the expansive open layout creates a vibrant hub where students and visitors can gather, dine, relax, and shop for groceries. Key features include a diverse array of dining options, a convenient on-the-go food locker system, and ample spaces for lounging and socializing.

Behind the scenes, the facility integrates essential components such as a commercial kitchen, freezer and dry goods storage, loading areas, and office spaces, ensuring seamless operations. To enhance the atmosphere, Ethos incorporated a branded color palette, environmental graphics, and signage, creating a fresh, welcoming environment suited for dining, lounging, and hosting future events.
