

SEMGROUP CORPORATION

The CEO of SemGroup Corporation wanted a fresh start following the company-wide restructuring with his intent to reinvent and rebrand the company to differentiate itself from a very traditional corporate landscape. Working closely with our designers, he began by relocating offices to give the company a more modern, agile, and flexible environment to help attract and retain new talent. The new facility provides an open layout increasing visibility between peers and departments while capturing natural light and creating informal collaboration spaces to allow various teams to better interact with one another.
